From:	Gholson, Greg
Sent:	Tuesday, November 18, 2014 10:29 AM
To:	Mogharabi, Nahal;Hanf, Lisa;Wampler, David;Knapp, Michael
Cc:	Greenberg, Ken
Subject:	RE: Five people hospitalized after chemical truck explosion in Santa Paula - LA Times

No. Same city but storm water enforcement action is unrelated to the City's waste water treatment plant.

Greg Gholson
CWA Compliance Office
Enforcement Division
US EPA Region 9
415 947 4209

-----Original Message-----
From: Mogharabi, Nahal
Sent: Tuesday, November 18, 2014 10:27 AM
To: Gholson, Greg; Hanf, Lisa; Wampler, David; Knapp, Michael
Subject: FW: Five people hospitalized after chemical truck explosion in Santa Paula - LA Times

Hi folks,

Please see the story below from the LA Times. Is this the same Santa Paula treatment plant we are working on a news brief for?

-----Original Message-----
From: Keener, Bill
Sent: Tuesday, November 18, 2014 10:23 AM
To: Mogharabi, Nahal
Subject: FW: Five people hospitalized after chemical truck explosion in Santa Paula - LA Times

-----Original Message-----
From: Manzanilla, Enrique
Sent: Tuesday, November 18, 2014 10:21 AM
To: Blumenfeld, Jared
Cc: Strauss, Alexis; Zito, Kelly; Keener, Bill; Salyer, Kathleen; Lindsay, Nancy; Allen, HarryL
Subject: FW: Five people hospitalized after chemical truck explosion in Santa Paula - LA Times

Santa Clara Industrial Wastewater Treatment in Santa Paula on CA 126 experienced a catastrophic explosion in a vacuum truck thought to contain organic peroxides.

Fire is burning and there were injuries. We will send START to ground truth this event and may send an OSC later this morning.

-----Original Message-----

From: Allen, HarryL
Sent: Tuesday, November 18, 2014 10:05 AM
To: Manzanilla, Enrique; Salyer, Kathleen; Guria, Peter; Lawrence, Kathryn; Martyn, Rich; Moezzi, Rameen
Subject: Five people hospitalized after chemical truck explosion in Santa Paula - LA Times

http://www.latimes.com/local/lanow/la-me-ln-five-people-hospitalized-after-chemical-truck-explosion-20141118-story.html?track=rss